It also was announced that Russian troops began an attack early this morning on German positions on the northern part of the Russo-Galician front, near Fried-richstadt, and that the battle is still in progress. Four Russian attacks near Drinsk were repulsed.

BRITISH TRANSPORT SUNK, 153 MEN DIE

LONDON, Jan. 5.—An official announcement last night told of the loss of the British transport Ivernia, which was sunk by an enemy submarine in the Mediterranean, Jan. 3, in bad weather, when carrying troops. It is said 153 of the crew and 129 men are missing.

The Cunard liner Ivernia, a 14,238-ton steamer, has been for some time in the British Government service as a transport, having at various times carried troops from Canada and between British ports and the Dardanelles.

GERMANS CHARGED WITH DISREGARD OF LIVES OF NON-COMBATANTS

LONDON, Jan. 5.—An Admiralty announcement of another case of "calculated disregard for the lives of non-combatants" says that nothing further has been heard of the British steamer North Wales, proceeding in ballast from Hull for Canada, which a German wireless dispatch on Nov. 10 reported as having been torpedoed.

One piece of wood marked "North Wales" has been washed ashore, together with some bodies, on the Cornish coast, and it is presumed that the crew which took to the boats in the gale then raging were drowned.

British Army in East Africa Rout Germans

LONDON, Jan. 5.—The following official communication was issued by the War Office last night:

"In East Africa our forces in the vicinity of Kikuyu, south of the Ulu-guru hills, assumed the offensive New Year's day. They stormed the enemy's strongly entrenched lines in the Mgeta Valley, inflicting heavy casualties and capturing several guns and howitzers. Pursuing the enemy we approached on Jan. 3 the Kilombari River, 11 miles northwest of Kikuyu."

Greek Steamship Torpedoed, Captain and 12 of Crew Saved

PARIS, Jan. 5.—The torpedoing of the Greek steamship Siliopis is reported in a Havas dispatch from Corunna, Spain, which says 12 men of the crew were saved by a fishing schooner. A dispatch from El Ferrol, Spain, says the captain and 12 members of the crew of the Siliopis have been landed on the beach at Cobas.

GERMANS WANT SWISS SERVANTS

GENEVA, Jan. 5.—The Burgomaster of Vienna, Dr. Waiskitchner, threatens to resign if Hungary continues to refuse to send food to Vienna, according to reports received here.

The Swiss and German papers are crowded with advertisements for food servants to go to Germany, the reason being that every Swiss in Germany is allowed to receive from home weekly 10 pounds of food-stuffs.

FEDERAL JUDGE TO HOLD COURT SESSIONS ON A LIMITED TRAIN

Will Hear Attorneys on Way to New York From West to Take Testimony in Fraud Cases.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—On a Southern Pacific limited train which left here last night for the East, special sessions of the United States District Court will be held. Attorney will argue before United States District Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe of Los Angeles the admissibility of certain evidence in the so-called fraud suits in which the Government is seeking to cancel patents on California oil lands acquired by the Southern Pacific Co.

For the convenience of witnesses for the defense Judge Bledsoe consented to hold court in New York Jan. 6. This is the second transcontinental trip taken by the court and its attaches in this case.

The traveling expenses of the court in this case will be heavy, as sessions have been held in San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego and Fresno, Calif., and Washington, D. C.

FORMER BOOKMAKER CASHES RACING BET IN 1903

Man Had Put Ticket in His Hat Band and Had Left Town.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—It cost Charlie Granger, who was once a bookmaker in Chicago, $1400 to pay an old debt yesterday. He made out a check for that sum, payable to Harry McDermott.

In 1903 McDermott was at the Washington Park track in Chicago. He backed The Pickett and when the horse won the American Derby he started to cash in, but McDermott could not find his ticket and Granger refused to pay.

McDermott went to Denver. Five months later he found the missing ticket in the lining of his hat. He wrote to Granger in Chicago, but the bookmaker had gone elsewhere.

McDermott and Granger met in a restaurant yesterday and Granger asked if McDermott ever had found the missing ticket, whereupon Granger paid the $1400 it called for.

BUCK DEER IN FATAL COMBAT

Antlers Lock and Ven Separated One Has to Be Shot.

LAWTON, Ok., Jan. 5.—A woodland battle between two buck deer was productive of deer meat being placed on the market of Cache, a village near here, today. The animals waged a furious battle on the Wichita forest reserve last night and fought until their horns locked.

The superintendent of the reserve knocked the tip off one of the antlers and released the combatants. The victor trotted off, but the other deer had to be shot.

POLICE CONVINCED MAN WHO ENDED LIFE KILLED MODEL

Son of Wealthy Pittsburg Coal Operator Shot Self When About to Be Arrested.

EVIDENCE IS REVEALED

Bernard W. Lewis' Death in Atlantic City Sequel of Philadelphia Tragedy.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5.—Detectives at police headquarters here announced today that the suicide of Bernard W. Lewis of Pittsburg, son of a wealthy retired coal operator, in an Atlantic City hotel last night, when he was trapped by the authorities of that city, solved the mystery surrounding the murder of Mazie Colbert, the art model, whose body, clad in violet silk pajamas, was found in her apartment here last Saturday night. The only thing that remains to be done, they said, was to find the motive for the crime.

Capt. Tate said several letters were found in Lewis' effects in Atlantic City. Torn scraps of what appeared to have been a letter were also found. These will be brought to this city, the Captain said, and an effort made to learn from them the motive for the murder.

Among the papers was a list of telephone numbers, one of which was that of the apartment house where the artist model lost her life. This, Capt. Tate said, was proof that Lewis was known to Miss Colbert, who also called herself Grace Roberts.

The police discard the theory that a third person was present in the Colbert apartment when the murder occurred. A theory was that one man was in the Colbert apartment when another man came in unannounced; that one of the men immediately departed and that the woman who remained quarreled with Miss Colbert and the killing followed.

While the police say they are convinced that Lewis was the man responsible for the death of the girl, they are not ready to believe that the crime was premeditated. It is their belief, they say, the tragedy was the result of a quarrel either over jewelry or money, or jealousy aroused by the attentions of other men.

Chauffeur Identified Body.

Lewis was identified by Elwood Powell, the chauffeur who drove him and the Misses Ethel and Mabel Kyle to their home in Germantown last Thursday night, as the man he later took to Miss Colbert's apartment.

Philadelphia detectives who went to Atlantic City last night to identify Lewis' body found that he had been killed by a bullet which found its way into his back, between the shoulder blades, and that Lewis was found wearing a woman's undergarment which corresponds to garments worn by Miss Colbert.

A blood-stained handkerchief was found in his pocket. He left no written statement, however, as far as could be learned.

Teachers' Faith in Him.

The Misses Kyle, school teachers through whom the police learned of Lewis' identity, maintained that he was innocent of the murder and that he killed himself because he believed his life was forfeited.

"Mr. Lewis was the victim of a ghastly blunder," said one of the teachers. "I still believe he was innocent. I knew he was an honorable man. He died since the murder occurred, in mystery and ended his life because he had lost hope of extricating himself and because he thought his reputation had been ruined. He had telephoned us every day since the murder occurred, in mystery and ended his life because he had lost hope of extricating himself and because he thought his reputation had been ruined. He had telephoned us every day since the murder occurred, in mystery and ended his life because he had lost hope of extricating himself and because he thought his reputation had been ruined."

He called us three times yesterday, and at 4 o'clock, the hour of his last breath, he seemed excited, but protested his innocence. 'Isn't this horrible,' he said. 'I don't know what to do to stop this notoriety.' He said that he had placed the matter in the hands of a lawyer and that everything would be all right."

Call to Kyle Sisters.

Lewis' telephone call twice were answered by Miss May Kyle, a third sister. She said she asked:

"Did you know the Colbert girl?" "Of course I did not know her," he said to have replied.

"Then why have you not called on the detectives and explained where you were on Friday?" Miss Kyle asked.

Lewis said to have replied: "I thought the easiest way was the best." Thursday night, while Lewis was out with the Kyle sisters, he is said to have telephoned to Miss Colbert. During the dancing that night his collar became wilted, the Kyle sisters say, and he bought a new one at a hotel. This collar was the same size as the collar found in Miss Colbert's apartment. It also became wilted. It is said, and according to the detectives, the collar found in the apartment had been discarded because it was wilted.

Was About to Be Arrested.

Less than five hours after the telephone conversation with the Kyle house Lewis had shot himself as he was about to be arrested. That he did anticipate arrest and had made preparation to end his life was indicated by the fact that the .22-caliber rifle he used was new.

He had pinned a towel over the transom of his bedroom door the keyhole of his door was stuffed with paper and on the bureau was a box of cartridges and an extra cartridge lay on the window ledge within his reach in the bathroom.

APPROVES BILL TO KEEP CITY'S BRIDGE FREE OF ARBITRARY

Public Service Board Will Recommend Measure to Aldermen.

IS IDENTIFIED AGAIN

The draft of a bill which is intended to prevent any arbitrary or special bridge charges by railroads and street car lines using the Free Bridge was approved today by the Board of Public Service, and will be submitted to the Board of Aldermen.

This measure is practically the same as the bill which Frank H. Gorthart presented to the Public Utilities Committee of the Board of Aldermen, and which the committee declined to recommend until the Board of Public Service should pass on it.

It defines a traffic zone, embracing the cities of St. Louis and East St. Louis, and declares that, for all lines using the bridge, the rate charged for carrying passengers, freight and express shall be the same from any part of this zone to any other part.

Objections to Measure.

Legal objections have been made to this measure, on the ground that the Interstate Commerce Commission may assume jurisdiction in case of an appeal from these rules. "The Interstate Commerce Commission has lately asserted its right to grant the McKinley line the privilege of charging a higher rate to Granite City, even in violation of the provisions of its franchise, and it has also assumed jurisdiction over trolley line fares between Cincinnati and suburban towns in Kentucky."

The Board of Public Service considered these objections, and its decision was to frame the bill in such a way that the city will get the maximum benefit from it, if the bill stands. If it is overthrown by the Interstate Commerce Commission or any other higher authority, the city will then do the best it can; but nothing will be lost, it is held, by making the measure as strongly in the city's favor as is possible now.

Will Yield No Point.

"The Board of Public Service," it was stated by that body in its recommendation of the bill to the Aldermen, "does not consider it wise to yield any point. It believes in imposing a maximum of restrictions and in yielding only such points as it may later be compelled, by a superior authority, to yield."

The bill provides that the Municipal Bridge Commission shall be composed of the Mayor, Comptroller, President of the Board of Aldermen and directors of the departments of public utilities and streets and sewers. This commission shall issue licenses or permits to corporations which agree to abide by the restrictions fixed for the use of the bridge.

The opening of the upper, or highway deck of the bridge has been set for Jan. 20. The lower, or railroad deck, with its east approach, will not be finished until next summer.

MACAULEY OUT ON BAIL; SAYS ALIBIS WILL CLEAR HIM

He Gives $10,000 Bond and Says He Will Stay Here to Prove Innocence.

Jewelry Man Says Prisoner Gave Him Bad Check in 1914 for Watch.

Alexander P. Macauley, a Toronto mining broker, who was arrested Wednesday at the Hamilton Hotel on police suspicion that he might be "Christmas" Keough, a notorious forger who has swindled merchants out of about $75,000 at Christmas season in the last five years, was released today on a $10,000 bond, given by his attorney, and admitted that Macauley had deposited that sum of money with him to cover the bond.

Macauley, with his wife and son, A. P. Macauley Jr., 21 years old, then conferred with his lawyer and announced to reporters that the family would remain at the Hamilton Hotel until the case had been disposed of. He insisted that it was a grievous case of mistaken identity, and that he would prove it.

The day's developments were:

Shortly before release on bond, Martin Baumann, 41, a farmer near Little Rock, Ark., who formerly owned a jewelry store at State and Monroe streets, in Chicago, identified Macauley as a man who, at 8 p. m. on Dec. 24, 1914, bought a watch and chain for $188 and gave in payment a $200 travelers' check on the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Toronto, which afterward proved to be one of the famous "Christmas" Keough checks which have troubled the American Bankers' Association for five years. Baumann said Macauley's watch was of the same pattern as the one he sold in 1914, and that he would try to get the serial number from a trustee in bankruptcy who afterward took charge of the company's books.

Promises an Alibi.

Macauley, after a conference with lawyers, announced that he would prove an alibi. He says that he was at the Hamilton Hotel last Saturday afternoon, at the time that Famous-Barr and Stix, Baer & Fuller employes say he was in the stores presenting $200 travelers' checks on a Toronto bank. He also insists that he can prove that on other Christmas days, for the last six years, he was with his family in Toronto.

The police announced their uncertainty that Macauley is Keough, but are resting their case on the identifications made by four Famous-Barr employes and three Stix, Baer & Fuller employes, and on the Baumann photograph of Macauley and Keough are of the same man.

A dispatch today from Toronto to the Post-Dispatch told that Macauley, in his last days, was a prize fighter in Nova Scotia. The Bertillon record of Keough, made in Denver 21 years ago, stated that Keough was a pugilist. Keough, in 1896, was 29 years old. Macauley says he is 34 years old.

The police say four employes of Famous-Barr have identified Macauley as the customer with the Toronto check, and three employes of Stix, Baer & Fuller have identified him as the man who gave a $200 Toronto check in payment for a set of furs priced at $75.00. This check was accepted, and has been sent to Toronto for clearing.

Family at Hotel.

Mrs. Macauley and her son and daughter are still at the Hamilton Hotel, where they have been for almost two months. Macauley registered there Dec. 28. He says his wife is the daughter of Emil Hahn, who formerly was in the saddlery business here, and that they contemplated making their home here for some time.

At the hotel last night Mrs. Macauley told a Post-Dispatch reporter that the police have made a grievous mistake in arresting her husband. When asked the purpose of her family's visit to St. Louis she said they had decided to make their home here during the winter and probably longer, as this was her old home. She said she was reared here, but left 24 years ago when she married Macauley. She did not care to give the names of her relatives in St. Louis. She visited here two and a half years ago, she said.

Her grown son was equally vehement that a mistake had been made and he declared somebody would have to pay for it. Both he and his mother said that Macauley had not been in the United States and in a position to have cashed checks at Christmas time for the last five years as the police charge.

Telegrams asking that Macauley be held have been received from New York, Chicago, Baltimore and Cincinnati. The Marshall of Baltimore wired that he "holds two indictments against A. P. Macauley, alias McLeod and Farrell," Inspector Desautel of New York, in a telegram, described Keough as 5 feet 10 inches tall.

Are They the Same Man?

Linked With That of New York Stock Market Operator by Congressman's Hearsay Story Given to House Committee.

Brother of President's Wife Said to Be in Firm Profiting in Market Flurry When Peace Note Was Sent.

Broker's Letter and "Rumor" Basis of Statements; Wilson's Secretary Issues Denial; to Testify Without Subpena.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The names of Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson, and Bernard Baruch, a New York stock market operator, were linked at the House Rules Committee hearing today by Representative Wood of Indiana, author of the resolution for investigation of whether there was a leak on information of President Wilson's peace note. Wood qualified his statement with a declaration that what information he had was only hearsay.

Representative Wood also declared that a Washington brokerage firm, F. A. Connolly & Co., of which "a Mr. Bolling," a brother of President Wilson's wife, is a member, had profited by stock transactions during the market flurry. Their deals were transacted by the New York firm of E. F. Hutton & Co., Wood said.

Representative Wood said most of the statements were based on information in a letter to him from A. Curtis, a Wall street broker. He did not have the letter with him, but said he would produce it later.

At the city news conference today, Chairman Henry announced that Secretary Tumulty would appear without subpoena, and that subpenas had been ordered for Curtis and Baruch. Representative Wood said that Baruch, who has joined in Wood's agitation for investigation, will be heard tomorrow, and Thomas W. Lawson will be heard Monday.

"Consultations at Baltimore."

"I am informed," Representative Wood testified, "that Barney Baruch had information about the note to the European belligerents two or three days before it was sent and that, on two or three occasions about that time, he was in consultation with Mr. Tumulty at the Baltimore hotel in New York."

Representative Bennett of New York, a member of the committee, said on the House floor Wednesday that Baruch, a member of the Council of National Defense, was reported in New York to have sold about 15,000 shares of Steel on a rising market shortly before the note was made public.

At the outset of the hearing Representative Campbell of Kansas moved to subpoena Secretary Lansing, Secretary Tumulty, Baruch and Thomas W. Lawson. Representative Wood objected strenuously to testifying in public.

Necessary Information.

What information he had regarding the so-called leak, he said, was only hearsay, and he feared that a public statement would interfere with the work of a committee in obtaining witnesses.

Representatives Chipmfield of Illinois, Foster of Illinois and Hartman of Mississippi protested so vigorously against any "star chamber proceedings" that Representative Garrett of Tennessee, who had moved that the sessions be made closed, withdrew his motion.

Chipmfield insisted that, as a witness sworn to tell the truth, Wood should give the committee the advantage of all the information in his possession.

Wood testified he had been informed that, on Wednesday, Dec. 20, which was prior to publication of the note, a confidential telegram had been sent by R. W. McKinnon, of Thompson & McKinnon, brokers, of Chicago, to Ralph H. Hartley, manager of their branch at Oakbrook, Wis., advising him that the President would have a message of importance soon and that he should advise friends and patrons of his office to sell short on stocks. R. S. Friday of Oakbrook was named by Wood as his informant.

Early in the afternoon of the same day, Wood said, he was informed that Lamson Brothers & Co., branch brokerage office in Lafayette, Ind., also received information from Chicago that the President was about to send a "peace" note.

Representative Wood requested that Otto Kahn of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., New York, be subpoenaed and interrogated regarding what advance information he had of the note.

A resolution was offered by Representative Campbell to ask the New York Stock Exchange to preserve all its books and papers from Dec. 10 and the present date.

This and another by Representative Harrison of Mississippi to make the same request of W. B. Hibbs & Co. and any other brokers in Washington were approved by the committee.

"I have information also," Representative Wood told the committee, "that an exchange firm here known as F. A. Connolly & Co., of which a Mr. Bolling, a brother of the President's wife, is a member, engaged in profitable transactions during the recent flurry. Their dealings on the Stock Exchange were made through Hutton & Co. of New York."

Points of Resemblance Upon Which Police Base Their Case

SUPT. SHEA of the Police Identification Bureau, who says that the photographs of A. P. Macauley, taken here Wednesday, and of "Christmas" Keough, taken in Denver in 1895, are those of the same man, relies upon the following points of resemblance to support his contention:

In both pictures the left ear is lower than the right.

Keough has a pronounced cowl at the center of the forehead, and the photo of Macauley, whose hair is very thin, betrays sign of a cowl at the same point.

The noses in both pictures, although they appear different at a glance, are of the same shape. Macauley's nose appears longer, but in the 21 years since the taking of Keough's picture the face settled until the root of the nose became so prominent that it gave the nose the appearance of being longer. The deeper the eyes are set the longer the nose seems.

The difference in the shape of the two mouths is due to eye straightening the lips and thinning them so that those in the photograph of a man of 34 bear no resemblance to the one in a picture of the same man taken 21 years earlier in life.

The 1895 Bertillon record of Keough and the measurements of Macauley made yesterday were compared, with the following results:

Macauley, 5 feet 11 1/2 inches in height, weight 202 pounds, medium stout, ruddy, dark chestnut hair, gray eyes, long and prominent nose.

Keough, Irish, pugilist, 5 feet 1 1/2 inches, weight 180 to 200 pounds, medium stout, light complexion, light hair, gray eyes, nose slightly flattened.

Noting that Keough was 14 inches taller than Macauley, the police point out that it was demonstrated in the famous Kimmel identity case that a man's physical make-up may undergo a complete change in a decade, but that not only will he shrink in height, but his face will be transformed, his eyes may change in color, and a nose in later years of life may not look anything like the nose of one's youth.

92 FEWER SALOON LICENSES ISSUED THIS YEAR THAN LAST

City Will Lose $23,000 in Revenue and State $135,000 for Six Months' Period.

The total number of saloon licenses issued yesterday in the excise office for the six-months' period beginning Jan. 1 were 230. On the same day last year, for the corresponding period, 222 licenses were issued, showing a loss of revenue from 92 saloons.

The city's loss of revenue will be $23,000 for the half year, while the State will lose $135,000.

Excise officials give no reason for the falling off in the number of licenses.

TUMULTY'S NAME IS MENTIONED IN HEARING ON 'LEAK'

Necessary Information.

What information he had regarding the so-called leak, he said, was only hearsay, and he feared that a public statement would interfere with the work of a committee in obtaining witnesses.

Representatives Chipmfield of Illinois, Foster of Illinois and Hartman of Mississippi protested so vigorously against any "star chamber proceedings" that Representative Garrett of Tennessee, who had moved that the sessions be made closed, withdrew his motion.

Chipmfield insisted that, as a witness sworn to tell the truth, Wood should give the committee the advantage of all the information in his possession.

Wood testified he had been informed that, on Wednesday, Dec. 20, which was prior to publication of the note, a confidential telegram had been sent by R. W. Hartley, manager of their branch at Oakbrook, Wis., advising him that the President would have a message of importance soon and that he should advise friends and patrons of his office to sell short on stocks. R. S. Friday of Oakbrook was named by Wood as his informant.

Early in the afternoon of the same day, Wood said, he was informed that Lamson Brothers & Co., branch brokerage office in Lafayette, Ind., also received information from Chicago that the President was about to York, reputed to be one of the largest speculative concerns in Wall street.

Asked by Representative Henry for the source of his information, Wood said that most of it came from "Mr. A. Curtis, a broker and stock dealer in Wall street."

"Who gave you the information about Barney Baruch and Mr. Tumulty?" asked Representative Henry. "That came from Curtis."

"Did you see him and where?" "No, I never saw him," Wood replied. "It came to me in a letter."

Asked for the letter, the Congressman said he did not have it with him, but would get it later.

"Where did you get your information about the Connolly firm and the Mr. Bolling you spoke of?"

"That has been a common rumor prevalent for several days," said Representative Wood. "I heard it from several sources, but don't remember just where."

"You certainly must have received it from some one."

"Yes, but I don't think I can recall just who told me that. I heard it many times. I haven't taken the names of all persons who gave me information," here Representative Wood interrupted the questioning to say:

"I have said and I wish to say again, at this time, that I have made and am making no charge against any one. I am merely giving you information I have received."

"What public position has Bernard Baruch?" asked Representative Campbell, ranking Republican of the committee. "I understand he is a member of the Council of National Defense."

"Do you have memoranda as to the date of the alleged conference between Mr. Baruch and Secretary Tumulty at the Biltmore Hotel?" Campbell continued.

"I don't remember, but it is stated in this letter from Curtis."

"In these conferences between Tumulty and Baruch, what is meant to be implied by the word 'conference'?" asked Representative Garrett, a Democratic member of the committee.

"Only that they were seen talking together and related together," Wood replied.

"Of course, you have no information as to what they talked about?" "No, I have not."

No House Member 'Mixed Up.'

Referring to the inclusion in his resolution of reference to Thomas W. Lawson's telegram hinting that members of Congress sought to dodge an inquiry, Representative Garrett asked if Wood had any information in any way indicating that members of the House were involved in the alleged leak transactions.

"I have no information whatever involving the name of any member of the House," Wood replied. "I know of no member of the House being mixed up in this stock crash."

"I understood you to say that a firm in Washington known as Connolly & Co. profited by alleged transactions," Representative Garrett continued. "Can you state where you got that information?" "No more than it was common rumor."

"Is there anyone you know who might be subpoenaed in this connection?" "No one except Hutton & Co."

In response to further questioning, Wood said he understood Hutton & Co. were the New York representatives of Connolly & Co.

Replying to Representative Cantrell, Wood said he had not consulted Secretary Lansing regarding a reported leak of the President's note, either before or after he introduced his resolution. Wood also said he had other information and had sent a number of letters and telegrams to various persons inquiring about it.

"It is not sufficiently developed to give at this time," he said, "but I may hear from it later. I can give the committee in private what I have heard if it is desired."

Wood was not pressed further on that point, but will be asked concerning it later.

Representative Harrison of Mississippi suggested that the witness should give dates of publication of the note and other details.

Question of Time Involved.

Wood replied that the crash of the stock market came, or rather culminated, Thursday, Dec. 21, and that the peace message had been released for publication by the Associated Press at 12:05 o'clock that morning for morning papers of that day.

Representative Harrison tried to bring out that in the 48 hours between the time the peace note was forwarded and published information regarding it could have come back from the foreign Powers to some of the embassies here. Wood said he had heard some intimations

Belgian Refugees Coming to America to Escape Deportation

THROUGH the efforts of Father J. B. Deville of Chicago, many Belgian refugees have been able to come to the United States. Many arrived on the S. S. Nieuw Amsterdam last Wednesday. that effect, but could not say who told him. He also said he had heard an intimation that the German embassy in this country had gotten that information back here.

"No political influence actuated you in introducing this resolution?" asked Harrison.

"I hope not. No, sir. These charges are infamous, the acts charged are infamous. If the charges are untrue, those against whom suspicion has been cast should be cleared of it."

Harrison referred to Secretary Lansing's conference with newspaper men on the morning of Dec. 29, and suggested that at the conference were present some persons who were not newspapermen. Wood said he had heard intimations that the conference was held at the Biltmore Hotel.

Harrison then suggested that there were representatives of the Wall Street Journal and Financial America present at that conference and that their duties were to get all the news that would affect the stock market. He added that these journals are maintained by stock brokers, and suggested it might have been that those financial reporters sent telegrams to the offices and that was the way the information got out. Wood replied he did not know about that.

Were Asked to Keep Faith.

Harrison explained that Secretary Lansing at that occasion asked the newspaper men to keep faith on what he told them and added that the "newspapermen kept the faith."

Wood said all he had heard was that Secretary Lansing told those at the conference that there might be some important information later.

Harrison brought out that Wood knew nothing about Curtis, the broker, until he received a letter from him after the introduction of his resolution for an investigation.

Wood replied that he had no information about the Otto Kahn manipulations, as Harrison expressed it, until after the resolution was introduced. Wood denied that he had any conference with Administration officials before introducing his resolution, although he had talked about it with some Congressmen. Representative Garrett insisted on knowing what was the exact charge.

Tumulty's name into the proceedings without consulting him.

"Do you charge," Representative Hargrave inquired, "that Mr. Tumulty profited by this so-called advance information?"

"No, I do not," Wood replied emphatically. "I do not charge that anyone profited by it. I am merely telling you what has been told me."

"Don't you think," Henry continued, "that it would have been better for you to have submitted these reports to Mr. Tumulty before coming here and giving them out publicly?"

"That is the very reason I wanted to submit these rumors in a private session," replied Wood.

"I do not know Mr. Tumulty and, therefore, I did not want to go to him. He might have been offended at me, a stranger, approaching him in that way."

Congressman in Wrangle.

Representative Charles D. Lummis objected at this point to Henry's line of questioning, and a general wrangle, which resulted in Henry ceasing to interrogate, followed.

Representative Chipmunk then asked Wood if Baruch was a contributor to the Democratic campaign fund.

"I am informed," Wood said, "that he contributed $25,000 to the Democratic National Committee."

Again wrangling broke out afresh. Democrats objected and Republicans contended that Baruch's contribution was a very material fact in the investigation.

"Is there any effort on the part of anyone pressing this investigation to retard the efforts of the President to bring about peace?" demanded Chairman Henry. "Not that I know of," Wood replied.

R. W. Bolling, member of F. A. Connolly & Co., made a statement, declaring that he had had no knowledge of the peace note and characterized Representative Wood's statement as absurd.

Lawson Declines to Testify.

Thomas W. Lawson, after declining to come here on the ground that he would sail for Europe tomorrow, changed his mind and sent a telegram to Speaker Clark announcing that he would be here Monday "before breakfast" to testify. House leaders were considering whether it was possible to enforce his attendance when the word arrived. Speaker Clark has expressed the opinion that he could not be compelled to come.

Lawson's first message said that if called his own committee might postpone the investigation until my return in the late spring or early summer.

He added, "I note that Wall street's leading bankers whose testimony would be the first essential to a real investigation, have also decided to sail for Europe on Saturday."

Referring to Lawson's recent conference with Henry, the Republican House Committee on Rules, his telegram said: "I hereby release your chairman of the Rules Committee from the press of the press, and I am giving to Congress any and all the information he extracted from me, but, of course, I shall not divulge any of the confidences imparted by me."

Lawson also sent a telegram to Vice President Marshall attacking Senator Stone.

Curley Letter to Wood.

The Curley letter to Representative Wood follows:

"Honorable William R. Wood, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. Dear Sir: The Democratic majority of the House will not, I presume, permit the adoption of any resolution of inquiry, but it is a highly meritorious measure none the less, and if I can do so, I want to help you."

Bernard M. Baruch of this city unquestionably had the news of Secretary Lansing's note as early as Saturday, Dec. 9. The note was dated Dec. 11 and not dispatched until Dec. 12.

(The official copies of the note are dated Dec. 18, they were placed in the hands of the press on Saturday, Dec. 16, on the afternoon of Dec. 20 and were released for publication in morning papers of Dec. 21. Officials announced the note by the cable to Europe on the cables in the early morning hours of Dec. 19.)

"How Baruch got it I am not prepared to say, but a gentleman of my acquaintance made the statement that he saw Mr. Tumulty and Mr. Baruch breakfasting together at the Biltmore Hotel in this city on two or three occasions, and that he saw the penning of the note and its secret dispatch."

Baruch and the Market.

That Baruch at this juncture smashed the market heavily and in all directions admits of no doubt and can be easily demonstrated in this way:

"At his offices, 111 Broadway, he has a system of private telephone lines to various brokerage houses. Before he has an opportunity to receive these wires you must obtain a list of them. If he is compelled to supply you with a list, I would check it by obtaining a identical list from the New York Telephone Co. and the Western Union Telegraph Co., these being the two companies that supply the wires. Having obtained this list, you can obtain from all the brokerage houses connected with the list a transcript of all orders executed for his account within the period in question. This investigation should cover not only his personal accounts, but any secret accounts, such as accounts carried by 'numbers' or any fictitious names, all of which, as the brokers' books will show, are controlled by him or guaranteed by him."

"If the brokers refused this information Congress has the power to compel them. The Stock Exchange also has the power to force its members to produce their books and accounts and, as the rules of the Stock Exchange are sufficiently broad and elastic to cover every departure from ethical business methods on the part of its members, an appeal to the governors of that institution will not do what the desired information. Many reputable members of the exchange are anxious to assist you in running to earth this most unsavory scandal."

"There is a great deal more in this matter than you imagine, and if you can once get your machinery in motion, I am in a position to say that you will be supplied with all the necessary information. Very truly yours,

"A. CURTIS."

Shortly before the committee excused Wood and went into executive session, Chairman Henry Wood and various members of the committee engaged in a heated exchange over bringing Secretary of the President's message until it was published.

"If the firm sent out a general circular discussing the world situation and giving our view that the time was ripe for a movement toward peace."

"There was nothing confidential nor secret about the circular, and it was commented on in the press. In the circular we advised our friends to liquidate all stocks in any way dependent for profits on the war."

McKinnon said he had talked with his Oshkosh agent today by telephone and had been assured that no message from Chicago of the kind described had been received there.

Ledlie Gates, one of the members of the firm of Lamson Bros. & Co., brokers, said that neither the firm nor any of its members had ever sent out word that the President was about to send out a peace note.

"We had no advance information on the peace note," said Gates.

Like many other firms, we were advised by the New York Stock Exchange that there might be developments of a decidedly bullish nature, and it is probable that this statement was sent to agents. No suggestion that a confidential message was forthcoming was ever made by us or through us."

Only 'A. Curtis' Known to Exchange.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The only "A. Curtis" known to the New York Stock Exchange as a broker is Allen Curtis of the firm of Curtis & Sanger of New York and Boston, formerly of the Exchange. When inquiry was made today as to whether Curtis was the broker referred to by Representative Wood, the firm got in touch with wire with Curtis in Boston, who replied as follows:

"Mistaken Identity. I never wrote anyone."

No other broker by that name seemed to be known in the financial community. The firm of Curtis & Sanger, however, might be a curb broker or an independent operator.

At the office of E. F. Hutton & Co., it was stated by a representative of the firm today that "nothing is known of transactions."

Bernard Baruch was said to be at his hunting lodge in South Carolina, and his associates at his office declined to make a statement.

DECLARES ANOTHER COMMITTED MURDER WHICH HE ADMITTED

Negro Youth Convicted of Killing Girl in County Makes New Statement at Jefferson City.

Prosecuting Attorney Ralph H. Halsey, of St. Louis, today received a letter from the Jefferson City penitentiary authorities stating that Wesley Halsey, 18 years old, a negro, who was convicted Jan. 21 of the killing of a girl, 19 years old, also a negro, had declared that the crime was committed by another negro, and that he admitted the crime because of third methods to which he was subjected.

The girl was killed at Elmwood Park, Oct. 2, 1915, and although Halsey pleaded guilty in open court, Judge Halsey ordered a retrial of the defendant's youth. Nothing will be done in the matter by the county authorities, they say, as they think Halsey had opportunity to make any statement when tried.

BEVERLY BROWN GIVES UP LICENSE FOR HIS SALOON

The license for Beverly Brown's notorious saloon and winery, at the northeast corner of Thirteenth and Chestnut streets, which in the last few months has been the scene of murder and several shootings, was surrendered this morning by the proprietor, who had been cited to appear before Excise Commissioner Rumsby on a charge of conducting a disorderly place.

The saloon had been closed since Dec. 20, the day after Frank Antonis, a laborer, was shot in the abdomen in the winery, and then carried out and left on the street by his companions. Several months ago Edward Schoenborn, a bartender, was shot and killed in the saloon.

Denials Made by McKinnon and Ledlie.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—When informed of the testimony of Representative Wood before the Congressional Committee relative to the telegram said to have been sent by R. W. McKinnon of Thomson & McKinnon, brokers, to their branch manager at Oshkosh advising short selling, McKinnon today declared positively that no such telegram had been sent by him or to his knowledge.

"I have looked through our files and no such message was sent by me Dec. 31 or any other day," said McKinnon. "Neither the firm nor myself have ever advised our clients to sell short. We have been on the bear side of the market for more than six weeks. Regarding the reference to the President's peace note, no such message was ever sent by me. I had no information whatever

A. P. MACAULEY OF TORONTO STARTED AS PRIZE FIGHTER

Man Held Here in Connection With "Christmas" Keough's Forgery Operations Also Gold Prospector, Railway Advisor and Broker.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TORONTO, Canada, Jan. 5.—Alexander P. Macauley of this city, who is held in St. Louis on the complaint of detectives representing the American Bankers' Association on suspicion that he is "Christmas" Keough, a notorious forger, started life as a prizefighter in Nova Scotia. He later prospected in the "Porcupine gold belt," acted in an advisory capacity to a railway company and has mingled with Canada's most prominent financiers.

Macauley is described as a big man, physically and mentally, a man who has staked his life on the success of his reward. He is married, about 50 years of age, and was born in Nova Scotia. His wife is about 48 years of age, and has a son, Arthur, 12 years of age, and a daughter, Mabel, 14 years of age. For the past three years the entire family has lived in Toronto, although Macauley himself has made this city his headquarters many times prior to taking up a residence here.

Arrest Arouses Interest.

The arrest of Macauley has aroused considerable interest in this city. Although he was reputed to be worth considerable money and was regarded as a successful broker, none of his business associates or fellow brokers have any definite idea as to the nature of his investments. It is vaguely understood that he was rather largely interested in the promotion and sale of stock in the Yukon and the development of the city of Timbuctoo, a small town situated near Chatham, about 150 miles west of here.

The stock, which has had a phenomenal rise in the past few weeks, was placed on the market through the firm of Pellatt & Pellatt, one of the city's most reputable brokerage firms.

Macauley is not a member of either the Toronto Stock Exchange nor the Standard Stock Exchange. He would have no authority to buy or sell stock, although his connection with a firm like Pellatt & Pellatt would give him considerable standing among investors.

From information given out at various times by Macauley himself it would appear that he has had a rather adventurous career. It was at the age of 19 or 20 years that he started as a prize fighter. Several years in the ring, however, cured him of the fighting game and he left Nova Scotia and came West, spending several years in various Canadian cities.

He then left for the United States, it is said, and did not return to Canada until some eight or ten years ago. During his absence he had married.

While no definite information could be obtained as to the identity of the woman he married, it is believed that she was a wife of either St. Louis or Philadelphia. Mrs. Macauley is of medium height and well proportioned. The son, Arthur, was engaged in clerical work in the city and the daughter attended a school near the city.

On Macauley's return to Canada he became associated with Commissioner Kingston of the Hamilton Railway Commission at Hamilton, Ont.

When the first great gold rush started into the "Porcupine District" Macauley was among the first to reach the fields. He spent several months in the North country, then returned to Toronto, where he engaged in promoting stock in various mining ventures. Of the hundreds of claims staked less than 10 proved to be producers. It was the day of the "wildcat" mining operations. Little can be learned of Macauley's connection with the various mines in the vicinity of Porcupine and Cobalt. The latter town was also one of the places in which he operated, but so far as can be learned he met with but little success there.

Returned to Toronto.

About five or six years ago he returned to Toronto. During the short time in which he lived here he was known by the name of "Christmas" Keough. He always dressed well and associated with prominent persons.

Three years ago Macauley returned to Toronto again and registered at the King Edward Hotel, one of Toronto's leading hostleries. He lived at the hotel with his wife and family for some weeks before signifying his intention of becoming a permanent resident of Toronto, by leasing an apartment in the Villa Nova, an exclusive apartment house in St. Clair avenue, one of the best residential streets in the city. That he had been living an unsettled life previous to his arrival in Toronto is indicated by the fact that when he leased the apartment he was without furniture. He sailed for Toronto from London, England, from a firm that catered almost exclusively to the patronage of the city's wealthiest people. The apartment was leased on Dec. 14, 1913.

Although he made many personal friends due to his business connection, the Macauleys never attempted to enter into Toronto's social circle and rarely entertained.

On Dec. 12 last Mr. Macauley surrendered his lease, informing the landlord that he was removing to St. Louis; that his husband would wind up his business affairs and follow within a few weeks. He was accompanied by his clerk and the daughter said good-by to her friends at the school.

Business acquaintances of Macauley said that he told them that he was going to St. Louis to complete a deal he had on in Southwest Texas.

When he first opened an office he was located in the Traders' Bank Building, at the corner of King and Yonge streets. The office was on the 13th story. The building was completed he moved into a commodious suite of offices there, situated at the corner of Adelaide and Yonge streets. In the very heart of the financial and business section of the city.

Office Is Still Open.

Although Macauley has been absent from the city for a week and every indication would seem to point to the fact that he did not intend to return, his office is still being conducted by his staff. When a representative of the Post-Dispatch called on the office today for information concerning Macauley he was met with evasive answers, and it was evident that the office assistants were ignorant of Macauley's whereabouts or were reluctant to give out any information concerning him.

Officials of the Canadian Bank of Commerce are unable to say who purchased the three $20 traveling checks, from which false checks were made and passed in various cities. The checks were bought some three years ago and when the bank began to appear suspicious of the checks, a private detective agency. Although detectives are said to have worked unsuccessfully to round up the man who was believed to have made the checks, the case was placed in the hands of a private detective agency. Although detectives are said to have worked unsuccessfully to round up the man who was believed to have made the checks, the case was placed in the hands of a private detective agency.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR, THICK, WAVY, GLOSSY AND NO DANDRUFF

Draw a moist cloth through hair and double its beauty at once.

Save your hair! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain!—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after an application of Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected, or is scraggy, faded, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and stimulating life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty charming, lustrous hair, and lots of it if you will just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.—ADV.

BRITISH FIRM MAKES LOWEST BID FOR U. S. NAVAL SHELLS

Macfild's Offer to Make Ammunition for U. S. Navy.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Haffield, Limited, of Sheffield, England, who bid more than $300,000 lower than the nearest American competitor for 400,000 14-inch armor-piercing shells, is likely to be awarded contracts for furnishing the United States navy with 2000 sixteen-inch and 4500 fourteen-inch armor-piercing shells as the result of bids opened by the Bureau of Ordnance at the Navy Department.

The proposals for the 14-inch type, the first of that size to be ordered by the navy, were submitted by five companies. The Washington Shell and Ordnance Co., the lowest American bidder, offered to make 2500 projectiles in 32 months at $750. The Haffield bid was for 2000 in 32 months at $514. On 14-inch projectiles the Washington Shell and Ordnance Co.'s estimate was for 1000 in 22 months at $500; and the Haffield for 4500 in 11 months at $556.

The ability of the English concern to seek foreign orders during the war was probably a factor. Secretary Daniels said, to the fact that with heavy ships taking little active part in the naval fighting, there is a need to conserve the ammunition supply for big gun guns.

TENDER TOES OF AMERICAN WOMEN

Tortured with corns because of high heels, but says corns lift out.

Style decrees that women wear high-heeled footwear which buckles up the toes, producing painful corns, then many women out of these heels, which is a most dangerous proceeding, as it is simply a matter of time before an infection or an awful death from lockjaw.

For little cost there can be obtained from any pharmacy a harmless ointment called Eucalypti. A quarter ounce of this is sufficient to remove every soft or hard corn or callous from one's feet. A few drops applied directly upon a tender, aching corn, will cause it to drop out, and so will the entire corn, root and all, can be lifted right out without pain.

It is a sticky substance which dries in a moment and shrivels up the corn without inflaming or irritating the surrounding tissue of skin.

MRS. CORNWALLIS-WEST WILL RETIRE FROM ALL PUBLIC WORK

London Paper Gives Another View of the Army Scandal—She is 63 Years Old.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—The Daily Mail learns that Mrs. William Cornwallis-West, who has been severely censured by a court of inquiry in connection with army affairs, has decided to retire from every kind of public work.

Mrs. Cornwallis-West is 63 years of age. The gossip column in the Evening Standard comments on the absence of any official particulars of Mrs. Cornwallis-West's "vindictive attempt to injure" Lieut. Barrett, and adds: "I am able to repair the omission in some important particulars. Mrs. Cornwallis-West informed Gen. Mackinnon that Barrett was constantly at Ruthin Castle and was pursuing her, that she was frightened at him and that he had broken into her bedroom. For this reason she requested Mackinnon to have Barrett removed. There was no truth in Mrs. West's allegation."

Outgoing Governor Pardons 44. LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 5.—Gov. George W. Hays, who will go out of office Tuesday, yesterday pardoned 44 convicts, including 19 convicted of murder. This makes a total of 112 pardons by him since Dec. 1.

E. H. SOTHERN SLIGHTLY BETTER. CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—The condition of E. H. Sothern, the actor, who is seriously ill at a local hotel from kidney stones, is slightly improved today. Attending physicians believe an operation will be necessary, but are awaiting the arrival of Mrs. Sothern (Julia Marlowe) and Dr. Joseph Bissell, the Sothern family physician, who are expected from New York today.

GOV. MAJOR READS HIS LAST MESSAGE TO LEGISLATURE

Devotes Much of 15,000 Words to Telling of His Services to the State.

DEFENDS FINANCE RECORD

Says New Conditions Call for Added Revenue—Indorses
Part of Gardner's Program.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 4.—Gov. Major, in a 15,000-word message to the Legislature, delivered by him today at a joint meeting of the Senate and House, indorsed several of the recommendations of Governor-elect Gardner and dwelt at length upon his own services to the State.

Regarding his administration, he said: "Whenever the finance of the present administration comes in touch with any preceding one, you will find an excess of service in favor of the present administration. In presenting this kind of a record I can look upon it with great pleasure and deep satisfaction. "No man received greater honors at the hands of the people of Missouri than have been conferred upon me," he said in conclusion. "I have held the important office of Attorney-General and of chief executive, this closing eight years of public service at the Capitol. Because of my service in the office of Attorney-General the State placed within my keeping the high office of Governor. The public service rendered in those two great departments constitute the chapter which I contribute in public life to the history of Missouri."

Would Change No Important Act.
"In closing my service as chief executive and looking back over the four years, I would not change any of the acts and services rendered in any of the matters of moment. The approval of my labors and the good flowing therefrom, I leave to the people and to those who will write the history of today and tomorrow. Standing at the meridian, I expect at all times to be actively employed in advancing every interest of my State. While public service is never a pleasant one, no matter whether it be as the executive of a State or as the President of the Republic, yet the honors conferred and achievements accomplished for one's State or nation is a sufficient compensation for the unpleasant features accompanying so exalted a position.

To have been the Governor of Missouri is glory enough for any man in public life, and I take the opportunity through this message to express my deep appreciation of the honors I have enjoyed, and for the loyal support I have ever received from the great masses of the people, to whom I have always turned with full assurance in every political battle in my life. In laying down the high commission and surrendering the great powers vested in me as chief executive I am glad to say I carry no ill-will toward any person who has criticized my official labors. I have discharged my duty, have the approval of my own conscience and am happy and contented."

The Governor's message was a rather unusual official communication otherwise than being self commending. In one paragraph Major denied that there existed an unusual deficit in the State treasury. In another he urged upon the legislature the necessity of adopting new revenue measures to take care of the urgent needs of the State. He praised Warden D. C. McClung of the Missouri penitentiary, whose conduct of the institution subjected his administration to more criticism than probably any other one this year.

Legislation Recommended.
The Governor specifically recommended the following legislative action: Another appropriation of money to construct a building at Booneville for first offenders, such appropriation two years ago having been vetoed by Gov. Major; appropriation to meet the needs of the penitentiary; establishment of a penitentiary farm; a State purchasing board for all State institutions and departments; simplification of judicial procedure; a workmen's compensation act and the establishment of a State industrial commission; children's code; appropriations for the improvement of the new capitol grounds and for mural paintings or interior colored artistic decorations in the capitol; illustration of the history, growth and wealth of Missouri.

Indirectly the Governor went on record in his message against the budget system in handling State finances, saying that the financial machinery of the State never had broken down, and he saw no way under the present constitution to improve the financial system.

Of the revenue-producing measures advocated by Gov.-Elect Gardner, the Governor recommended a recording mortgage tax, an increase in the collateral inheritance tax and an increase in automobile license fees. He said that in the last two years the State had lost $300,000 in revenue because of the increase of dry territory and the consequent decrease in the number of saloons. He also said the State had lost $200,000 by the partial abolition of the contract system at the penitentiary. After outlining the burdens placed on the State by the abolition of the contract system, by the pensions allowed to Confederate veterans and by the fire which destroyed the buildings of the Warrensburg Normal School two years ago, he said:

"We have been most fortunate, however, in being able to practically meet these new burdens under these new conditions, but only because of a splendid service in that department, whereby the State has earned a greater net revenue than ever before in the same length of time. Also, by reason of the fact that while I was Attorney-General the depart-

GRAY HAIR TURNS ITS NATURAL DARK COLOR AFTER APPLYING SAGE TEA

When Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens So Beautifully that Nobody Can Tell; Takes Off Dandruff.

Almost every one knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and luster to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also cures dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays skilled chemists do this better than ourselves. By asking at any drug store for the ready-to-use product—called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy"—you will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Some druggists make their own, but it's usually too sticky so it will not get into the hair.

can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is the best remedy for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and to stop falling hair.

Folks like "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair as it does it so naturally and evenly, says a well-known downtown druggist. You dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This requires but a few moments. By morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two is restored to its natural color and looks even more beautiful and glossy than ever.—ADV.

ASSAILS HENRY FORD AT DETROIT

Congressman Gardner Accuses Him of Using Money to Prevent Preparation of Detroit, Mich., Jan. 5.—Henry Ford was accused of using his fortune to prevent his country from arming itself, and the League to Enforce Peace was denounced as dangerous by Representative Augustus P. Gardner of Massachusetts, in a speech here last night before the Detroit Real Estate Board.

"Last year the people repudiated pacifism," said Gardner, "but now, the other problems of the nation, the stream of hired eloquence and literature works while men sleep." Gardner praised the navy bill and efforts of the Secretary of the Navy to have legislation enacted which would expedite building.

TUBE MAIL SYSTEM JUST CONVENIENCE, SELPH DECLARES

Efficiency Would Not Be Impaired by Use of Automobiles, Postmaster Says.

COULD SAVE $29,000

Congress Will Vote in Few Days on Discontinuance of Service.

Congress will vote in a few days upon the recommendation of Postmaster-General Burleson that the pneumatic tube mail delivery service between main and branch postoffices and railway stations in St. Louis, Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston be discontinued. The Postmaster-General has reported to Congress that the department can save approximately $150,000 a year by using automobiles instead of pneumatic tubes and that the efficiency of the service will not be impaired.

The American Pneumatic Tube Service Co., which owns all the pneumatic tubes in service, except those in Philadelphia, has been making an active campaign to influence members of Congress to vote for a renewal of the pneumatic tube contracts, all of which expired last June. St. Louis has only 1.8 miles of pneumatic tubes, for which the Government pays a rental, including operation, of $23,000 a year. Postmaster Selph estimates that at an additional cost of $4000 a year to the present automobile service the postoffice could handle all the mail now transmitted by tubes, without any impairment of the service. By discontinuing the tubes in St. Louis the department would make a net saving of $29,000 a year, according to the Postmaster's estimate.

Several Tests Made.
Several recent tests have been made to determine the relative efficiency of tube and automobile service. These tests show that in the transportation of large quantities of mail from the central station to the main postoffice the automobile service is much quicker, while tests of single letters show that delivery can be made a few minutes quicker by the tubes. In an interview with a Post-Dispatch reporter today, Postmaster Selph discussed the entire proposition, with reference to cost of pneumatic tube service and the effect of its discontinuance. He said:

"As the operator and director of a great postoffice, I am not opposed to any convenience or adjunct of the service and that is all that the tubes are. Just a convenient, but not a necessity. I could get an airship service between St. Louis and New York City I would take it, but it would be a postal luxury and not a postal necessity. The agitation in opposition to the recommendation made by Postmaster-General Burleson seems to be inspired, seems to be based on the erroneous statement that has been made by some 'interested' party, that the postoffice service in the business district would suffer if the tube service were suspended. And it is in this phase of the agitation I am interested, for as Postmaster it is not my duty to put my duty and sincere desire to give to all the postal patrons of St. Louis, especially the business community, the most efficient service possible.

"Reference has been made to a communication directed to Joe P. Johnston, chairman of the Committee of Pneumatic Tube Service, Washington, D.C., dated Dec. 7, 1915, signed by me as Postmaster. On the date this statement was made conditions were entirely different in St. Louis than they are today. In the first place all transportation facilities were then furnished by the contract carriers, and the tube service was developed to a considerable degree by reason of the fact that derelict and delinquent employees who were charged with the responsibility of properly handling the mails and who failed to do so, have been either reassigned to positions of less importance, demoted or removed and efficient and capable employees promoted in their stead. Since the filing of that communication the Post Office Department has inaugurated the government-owned automobile service which is now under the direct supervision of the Postmaster, thus enabling us to control the movement of all transportation to the extent that we have raised the efficiency of collections and deliveries in St. Louis over 100 per cent."

Service Would Be Maintained.
Therefore there is no occasion, and I speak advisedly with all the facts intelligently before me, which I will be glad to give to anyone interested—I say, there is no occasion for agitation or fear on the part of our postal patrons, especially the business community, that in the event the tube service is suspended there will be any decrease in the present efficient system of collection and delivery of mails. As a matter of record and fact, the tubes have been out of service on different occasions and the business community, being none the wiser, did not know that we made the dispatches between the main office and the downtown railway station by automobile with the same promptness and effectiveness as if we had used the tube service.

"It was only in 1914 that the tube service in St. Louis was actively and seriously regarded by postoffice employees, for those charged with the proper supervision of this postoffice were not giving as much attention to the use of the tube system as they might have done (this fact was admitted in complaints made by representatives of the tube company), and this lack of use of the tube system applied to other mail-channels that was installed in the postoffice, therefore I caused the tubes to be used continuously and actively whenever possible, because I felt that the Government was paying a very profitable figure to the privately owned corporation that operated the tubes, and that the Postoffice Department should get all the benefits out of the system.

contracted for that they possibly could. To state actual facts is an easy matter, and no one should be afraid to consider them. It ought to be absolutely and certainly apparent to any logical and reasonable mind that Postmaster-General Burleson, who has so successfully built up an unequaled national postal service, would hesitate a long time before he would initiate any movement or take any arbitrary action that would in the remotest direct or indirect tend to diminish or decrease the efficiency of the mail service in St. Louis or any other city, or interfere with its present promptness and dispatch of its collection and delivery service.

"With the well-organized and efficiently operated Government-owned automobile forces, certain practical tests recently have been made which indicate that more mail can be carried in one load by automobile from Bridge Station (Eads Bridge) to the main postoffice, where all the distributions and dispatches are made up for delivery to railroad stations, and from Central Station (the old postoffice at Ninth and Olive streets) to the main postoffice at Eighteenth and Walnut streets, where the distributions are made to postoffices and dispatches made up for railroad trains, than can be handled during an equal period through the tube system.

These tests indicate that approximately 10,000 letters, minus the expense of time and time in making them up into packages, can be moved from Central Station to the main postoffice in one load in 14 minutes, which means a movement with a less number of employees engaged in handling same from the facing table at Central Station direct to the separating cases at the main postoffice. To move the same amount of mail through the tubes from Central Station to the main postoffice at Eighteenth and Walnut streets, figuring necessary time for preparation for transmission, consumes as indicated by actual tests 38 minutes and 25 seconds from the canceling table at the former point to the separating cases at the main postoffice, a gain of approximately 15 minutes in time in favor of automobile transportation.

A test of one letter each by automobile and by tube from Central Station to the main postoffice, leaving the former point together at 11:47 a. m., shows as follows: The letter coming via the tube reached the separating case, main postoffice at 11:53 1/2 a. m., and the one by automobile at 11:56 1/2 a. m., a difference of approximately two minutes in time, which would be saved if a large number of letters were handled rather than one, as there was no tying in packages at Central Station, or cutting of time at the main postoffice and transportation from opening table to separating table involved.

TROOP B DUE FROM BORDER TOMORROW

Train Will Stop at Howard Station and Men March Direct to Armory.

The troop train, containing 80 men and 22 horses, will arrive at the Howard station between 8 and 9 o'clock and will be officially greeted by Mayor Kiel, Alderman Luke Hart and other city and State officials. Col. Arthur B. Donnelly of the First Regiment, and Capt. Frank Rumbold of Battery A, "From Howard station the troop will march to their armory on Mackinac avenue, where they will be officially released from duty. A short informal reception will be held. The troop will be in charge of Capt. C. G. Butterfield, First Lieutenant J. A. Hatfield, and Second Lieutenant Julius Mithula. Capt. A. C. Orrick and others are planning a reception for the troop at the Armory and the Troop B Missouri Cavalry Fund will tender a reception later. Sgt. Jay E. Troop B is the last unit from St. Louis to be mustered out of the Federal service. They spent almost their entire time patrolling the Rio Grande River near Fort McIntosh, 10 miles from Laredo, Tex. The troop as a whole received high praise from regular U. S. Army officials for their excellent work.

PROHIBITIONISTS FORM PLANS

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 5.—At a conference here of the advisory council of the temperance forces of Missouri it was decided to concentrate on dry legislation with two election bills and on a constitutional amendment for the submission of prohibition.

FOR A BAD COUGH

Here is a fine old-fashioned recipe for coughs, colds or catarrh trouble that has been used with great success. Get from your druggist a oz. of Eucalypti (double strength), about 7½¢ worth, and add to it a pint of hot water and a 4¢ of granulated sugar. This will make full half a pint when mixed. Take one tablespoonful 4 times a day. No more racking your whole body with a cough. Clogged nostrils should open, air passages of your head clear up so you can breathe freely. It is easy to prepare, costs little and pleasant to take. Any one who has a stubborn cough, or hard cold, or catarrh in any form, should give this prescription a trial. —ADV.

DANDRUFF SOON RUINS THE HAIR

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails. —ADV.

KNIGHT IS MADE AN ADMIRAL

Designated by President to Command Asiatic Fleet.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Rear Admiral Knight, head of the Naval War College, has been designated by President Wilson to command the Asiatic fleet, with rank of Admiral.

He succeeds Admiral Winterhalter, who has completed his tour of duty and is assigned to duty with the general board.

Capt. W. W. Sims, recently in command of the dreadnought Nevada, will become president of the Naval War College. It is understood he is one of six Captains recommended for promotion to Rear Admiral by the new selection board.

Contributions Claimed From Hill Estate. ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 5.—When the six months period for filing of claims against the estate of the late James J. Hill had expired yesterday, 217 claims aggregating $18,531.88 were on record. More than $150,000 was for contributions said to have been promised to educational and religious institutions. Claims ranged from 40 cents to $50,000.

DANGER TO PUBLIC HEALTH

Special Warning of Vital Importance at This Time—How Lives May Be Saved

Public warning is given to avoid the danger from poisonous drugs and nerve-debilitating stimulants contained in so many so-called "Cough Cures." Look on the label of these preparations and you will see that they contain morphine, heroin, cocaine, chloroform and other dangerous narcotics which should only be taken under a doctor's orders. You are safe when you take Father John's Medicine because it is pure and wholesome, free from dangerous drugs and alcohol and has more than sixty years' success in the treatment of colds and throat troubles. —ADV.

OLD SENATE RULES LIKELY TO PREVAIL

Committee Appointed to Report to Body Composed Largely of "Old Guard."

From a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 5.—The Senate today appointed a committee to report rules for adoption, which is believed to seal the fate of any attempt to reform the rules to take control of legislation out of the hands of reactionaries.

The members are Senators Greene of Kansas City, Campbell of Fayette, Mayes of Caruthersville, Gardner of St. Louis County and Whitledge of St. Genevieve, all of whom are counted wet. Greene and Campbell are out and out members of the old guard, and Mayes voted with the old guard in the caucus when Morton was chosen president pro tem. Gardner and Whitledge usually vote with the old guard Democrats on all matters except those having a political phase.

The resolution naming the members of the committee was introduced by Senator Buford, who until recently was counted as a member of the faction which is opposing the old guard. He voted with it in the caucus, however.

Under the rules which again are expected to prevail this session, no bill can be considered out of its order in the Senate if one member objects. Another rule provides that the rules cannot be changed except by a two-thirds vote, although only a majority vote is required to adopt the rules as a whole. After introduction in the Senate a bill is referred to a committee, which is expected to investigate it and report it back to the Senate. When it comes back it goes at the bottom of the Senate calendar, and bills are considered in the order in which they appear on the calendar. Committees ordinarily fail to report on most bills until the last few weeks of the session, and then hundreds go on the calendar at a time. The result is that many meritorious measures find places so far down on the list that they cannot be reached before adjournment. No matter how important a measure may be it cannot be brought forward if objection is made. Bills opposed by powerful business or political influences are thus killed if any Senator objects to their consideration, and usually opposing Senators are watching such bills.

EDWARD ELLEBRACHT, SLAYER OF MOTHER-IN-LAW, PAROLED

Governor Frees St. Louisan Who Was Sentenced for 30 Years in March, 1915.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 5.—Edward Ellebracht of St. Louis, who was sentenced March 15, 1915, to 30 years in the penitentiary for killing his mother-in-law, Mrs. Cecelia Horstman Parapher of 2701 Madison street, was paroled yesterday by Gov. Major to Leo W. Van Cleave of St. Louis. The Governor commuted the sentence of 14 other convicts, including four from St. Louis, and restored civil rights to 20 Pettis County residents who had been disfranchised for committing crimes.

Ellebracht's crime was committed July 10, 1914. In addition to killing his mother-in-law he inflicted an almost fatal wound on James Parapher, his father-in-law, and also wounded his wife, Mrs. Clara Ellebracht, and Fred Werneck, a friend of the family. The shooting was done when resistance was offered to Ellebracht's efforts to get possession of his child.

No!—Not Phonograph Music—Vocalion Music

We wish we could describe the Aeolian-Vocalion with some other name than phonograph. Of course it is a phonograph, but your idea of a phonograph doesn't measure up to Vocalion accomplishments. Its tone is wonderful. A true musician conceived the symphonetic tone chamber that gives Vocalion music a richness and clarity beyond that of any other phonograph. As wonderful as the symphonetic tone chamber is the Graduola, you yourself control Vocalion music. You experience the never-ending joy of putting your own expression, your own feeling, into phonograph music.

LEGISLATORS FIND JOBS FOR ABOUT USUAL NUMBER

Little Economy Practiced in Providing 300 Clerks, Pages and Stenographers.

MORE MAY BE ADDED
Each Democratic Senator to Have 5 Clerks Under Action Approved in Caucus.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 5.—The wrecked financial condition of the State has had a little but not very great influence on Senators and Representatives in their plans for providing relatives and political friends with jobs at State expense.

pense. The clerical committees of the two houses of the Legislature are at work on their reports, and while there apparently will be some reduction in the number of clerks, the indications are that there will be jobs for probably 350 of the wives, sons, brothers, nephews, nieces and political supporters of the members.

Although the Senate committee has not completed its work, it has determined on the principal item, which is the number of clerks each Senator will be permitted to name as personal appointees. The number is a few less than were appointed at the beginning of the last session.

In the House each Democratic representative will be permitted to name one clerk, which will make 78. In addition there will be 12 stenographers, 12 pages and 30 other employees, making a total of 141 employees. The clerks receive $2.50 a day, the stenographers $3.50, the pages $1.50 and the other employees $2.00 a day.

Senator to Get Five Clerks.
In the Senate the 35 Democratic Senators will be permitted to name five clerks, and one stenographer, and each of the Republican Senators will be permitted to name one stenographer. The remainder of the force is expected to total about 30, making 194 in all.

In the last Legislature the clerical force of the House was 216 at the beginning of the session and the Senate force 243. A few weeks later members of the clerical force added many clerks, bringing the total for each house up to about 300.

Whether the same system will prevail this year remains to be seen, but it always has prevailed in the past, and the only indications that it will not this year is in the fact that the House action was taken in caucus, while last year there was no caucus action on the report of the Clerical Committee, which placed no restriction on the committee in adding clerks to the staff.

There was opposition in the caucus to the employment of the usual large number of clerks, and through the action of Rich R. Correll of Randolph County, Floyd S. Tuggle of Davies County, Speaker Drake Watson and others the number was reduced to less than were allowed two years ago, though there were many Representatives who insisted upon the right of the members to name many clerks, and thus help add to the family revenues in Jefferson City and take care of supporters in the campaign.

By making the report a caucus matter, they say clerks only can be added by a vote of the House in public. However, a resolution specifying the number of clerks was adopted by the House two years ago and no difficulty was found in putting more men and women on the payroll.

No Work for Folder.
Not within the memory of any member of the present Legislature has there been any duty for the folder to perform. Many years ago before the typewriters came into general use and members were accustomed to write out their bills in long hand and submit them on many sheets of paper it was the duty of the folder to see that the pages were in the proper order and to fold the bills. All bills now are typewritten before being introduced and are properly folded. There is some talk that the folder this year will be asked to work in the House postoffice as an assistant to the postmaster.

In the Senate also a folder was appointed. There are no more duties there for a folder than in the House.

Although the number of clerks is not as large as in preceding years it admittedly is much larger than is necessary to carry on the work of the Legislature.

Those attending the House caucus were Representatives W. K. James, Andrew County; E. A. Shannon, Audrain; C. W. Carney, Barry; Henry C. Chancellor Jr., Barton; James N. Sharp, Bates; William H. Sapp, Boone; Frank J. Staedter, Buchanan; Ben F. Stuart, Buchanan; Jack D. Robinson, Buchanan; Nick T. Cave, Callaway; John H. Lehr, Carter; Charles S. Nelson, Cass; Clarence O. Houston, Chariton; B. Two Children in the Same Street

Two children are attacked by a serious, communicable disease. Both live in the same street, and have the same kind of homes. The same doctor attends both, and gives each the same treatment. One child recovers, the other dies.

Why? Because the one who succumbs is attacked by a germ so malignant, so powerful, that medical science is impotent against it.

This is true of all germ diseases. There is no hope for the person attacked by a germ of super-malignancy because the drug has not been discovered that will destroy all germs without at the same time killing the patient.

Yet, you can make a better fight against disease than it can make against you and yours, by killing the germs before they have a chance to enter the body.

Use Lysol. It immediately and completely destroys all kinds of germ life. Use it in sinks, drains, garbage cans and toilets. Use it in scrubbing water, for soap alone will not kill all germs.

Lysol is economical; a 25c bottle goes a long way—it makes two gallons of reliable disinfectant. Lysol is also valuable for personal hygiene.

Three sizes: 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold everywhere.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

In Prohibition Kansas.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
W. M. Gardner's letter, published in "Letters from the People," in your issue of Dec 31, quotes certain statistics as to Kansas, taking issue with Mr. Kittlinghoff and asks that he kindly furnish the facts for Missouri or any other wet State.

Replying to Mr. Gardner and not quoting statistics published from uncredited sources, wish to call his attention that page 47 of the United States Census Bulletin No. 96 shows prohibition Kansas granted more divorces because of husbands' drunkenness than 25 states where liquor is legally sold. The same bulletin, on page 42, shows 27 states where liquor is sold have a lower divorce rate than prohibition Kansas, and in United States Census Bulletin No. 112, page 77, we find the average death rate is lower in 29 states where liquor is lawfully sold than the death rate in prohibition Kansas and 28 states in which liquor is lawfully sold had a larger church membership than prohibition Kansas—United States Census Bulletin No. 103, page 40. In 27 states in which liquor was lawfully sold the average savings per depositor is higher than the average depositor in Kansas—United States Treasury Report 1913, page 460.

As to Missouri in comparison with Kansas, we find it is true that Kansas had 41 empty jails, according to the United States Census, and that Missouri had 58. Comparisons sometimes make abstract statistics have a different meaning. The number of life prisoners per 100,000 population in Missouri, according to the United States Census Report was 1.70, and in dry Kansas 4.49, and these figures do not include the Federal prisoners at Leavenworth. The annual divorce rate per 100,000 population in wet Missouri was 281, in dry Kansas 285. The Census Report also tells us that wet Missouri is 25 per cent better than dry Kansas in church membership, for in relation to the percentage of population, the churches in Missouri had 55.7 and Kansas 28.4.

If we are to believe the Topeka State Journal of Dec. 20, 1916, and especially Harry C. Bowman of the State Board of Control, we learn of the following and, sad facts about Kansas, for that paper, quoting the official report, states:
There is an increase of 109 per cent charity patients; increase of $2 per cent county charity expense; tax increase, 110.68 per cent; State expense increase, 100 per cent; farm mortgages, $180,000,000; bond indebtedness increase, 100 per cent; per capita tax tripled.

Bowman's startling revelation of conditions in Kansas was made in a paper entitled "Benevolence and Correctional Work in Prosperous, Prohibition Kansas." "BLEEDING KANSAS."

Give Troop B a Hearty Welcome!

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Troop "B," of the Missouri Cavalry, will arrive in St. Louis about Saturday morning. Their coming so far has been unheralded except for a paragraph here and there in the daily papers. Only the relatives of the boys who have served on the border know of their coming. How different is their return from their departure on June 22, 1916—and yet, there is no difference in the intents and purposes of their sojourn on the border; the boys answered the country's call with a fervor and enthusiasm that thrilled and inspired those who were left behind. I firmly believe that, regardless of what their protestations to their friends and relatives were, they believed they were going to do battle for the honor of America and the Stars and Stripes, and to put an end to the murderous border warfare. I, who have returned, can recall how willingly the officers, men and men of leisure, who had never been accustomed to hard manual labor, pitched in and without shirking or complaining, did the dirtiest, filthiest work attendant to camp life, meanwhile clothed in rags and tatters and fed the poorest of fare. I do not mean to say that the mess was always poor, but it was extremely so until the mess sergeants became experienced; nor do I mean to say that they were always clothed in rags and tatters, but I do know of one outfit which for two months wore nothing but cast-off uniforms.

Now they are returning—the only cavalry outfit in the State of Missouri, whose record on the border should make every St. Louisian's heart beat with pride inasmuch as it, on inspection, was equal to, if not better than, any outfit, be it militia or regular army service, from Brownsville to Columbus.
I am not speaking for the troop alone, but for every one of our St. Louis boys who have returned from border duty—some of them to find their places of business filled by those who stayed at home.
A FORMER GUARDIAN.

THE RECORD IS REMADE.

An esteemed contemporary twits the Post-Dispatch on the refusal of the Democratic majority in the State Legislature to follow our counsel in the matter of choosing a President pro tem of the Senate and a floor leader of the House. We advised strongly against the selection of Senator Morton and Representative Farris.

The reflection is on the Democratic majorities of the Senate and House, not on the Post-Dispatch. We claim no dictatorship over the Legislature, nor do we bear any responsibility for its conduct—heaven be praised.

We based our opposition to the men who were selected for these places on their previous records—on their conduct in the past. That is the only ground upon which we can judge public men who have been in the public service. If the Democratic party of Missouri stands for the records of these men, so much the worse for the party.

The Post-Dispatch will not fight Senator Morton and Representative Farris on their past records, or because we opposed their election to the posts they hold. We shall judge them solely by their conduct at this session of the Legislature. We shall support them if they are right and oppose them if they are wrong. We would be delighted to support and commend them.

We do say that if the Democratic majority in the General Assembly fails to meet the just expectations of the people of Missouri—if it dribbles away time and money in partisan schemes; if it does not enact a progressive, constructive program of legislation; if it does enact laws inimical to the public interest, neither the next Governor nor the next Legislature will be Democratic; there will be a Republican landslide in Missouri.

WAR'S MONEY COST.

The public debt of the principal nations at war is estimated by the Federal Reserve Board at $49,000,000,000. This is about one-sixth of their national wealth, as reported before the beginning of hostilities. It is rising steadily at the rate of $100,000,000 a day.

Almost inconceivable as these figures are, they do not represent the cost of the war. Billions have been accumulated by taxation and other bills by the issue of paper money. No account is taken either of property destroyed or productive industry paralyzed. The debts and losses of the minor countries involved are not considered. Before this conflict began, persons opposed to great armaments used to point to the amazing fact that the principal nations were spending $3,000,000,000 a year for military purposes. Now they are spending that sum every month. All the wars of the nineteenth century are said to have cost $28,000,000,000. This war has cost twice that already. The cost of our Civil War has been estimated at $5,000,000,000. Great Britain alone has spent three times that amount since Aug. 1, 1914.

As the principal creditor nation, the United States has a profound interest in the finances of the belligerents, and the Federal Reserve Board performs an important public service when from time to time it calls attention to the facts. That the point of exhaustion of credit as well as of men has not yet been reached is evident, but it would be madness to assume that the present waste of life and treasure can go on indefinitely.

STATE ACCIDENT INSURANCE.

We have reason to believe that as a result of six years of effort, the 1917 legislative session will see the adoption of a workmen's compensation statute.

Laws of this character impose some new liabilities on employers, classify and define more clearly old liabilities and make their enforcement automatic. From the first under the new system, many employers have preferred to transfer to accident insurance companies for a known sum yearly the uncertain cost of self-assumption of accident risk.

Then some new questions arose under the system. An employer might lack the means to meet possible accident liabilities. Or an apparently prosperous concern might become bankrupt before accident claims were paid. Accordingly insurance or the filing of a bond to cover accident claims was made obligatory in certain cases—by some states in all cases. Almost all states permit employers to insure their workers if they wish, provided the indemnities of the policy equals those of the compensation law.

This of course caused an enormous increase in the business of the accident insurance companies. Data showed a huge overhead expense and excessive premiums. Safety first precautions tend to increase their earnings.

A state fund into which employers should pay their premiums and from which accident claims should be adjusted was a natural improvement. Among the states which administer such a fund, either directly or through the agency of co-operative associations are California, Colorado, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Montana, Nevada, Ohio, Oregon, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Texas. In fact almost all the new laws contain this feature. New Jersey proposing a constitutional amendment to facilitate direct agency.

Experience shows that state fund insurance is much cheaper than private company insurance. It is also found that the adjusters of some private companies make settlements with accident victims for the very smallest sum possible. Ohio figures are quoted to the effect that the State fund has saved employers $2,400,000 in premiums, while settlements from it have given injured employees $3,000,000 more than they would have received under company policies. The basis for the latter computation is not given.

At this stage in compensation evolution a law lacking a State fund or a co-operative accident insurance feature might justly be denounced as favoring the indemnity corporations.

The Missouri bill, though it makes insurance obligatory, does not authorize State administration of a fund. The fact that such a provision would now be of doubtful legality presents another reason for constitutional revision. But as a supplement to the compensation measure, a separate bill has been prepared authorizing the formation of mutual accident associations under strict State supervision, the profits to be used in reduction of premiums.

This auxiliary bill has an importance approximating that of the compensation bill itself. The two should be considered as parts of the same legislation and have equal favor. How much of an improvement will be made if, for the reproach of ambulance-chasing lawyers, we substitute only ambulance-chasing adjusters of private indemnity corporations?

More than 100 domestic servants in Duluth have organized a union and demand higher wages, a nine-hour day, pay for overtime, an entire day off each week and comfortable living quarters. If they obtain these reforms the husbands of their bosses doubtless will be willing to exchange jobs with them.

LAW-BREAKING PRISON OFFICIALS.

How would a government of prison contractors, by prison contractors and for prison contractors be recognized?

Would it not be by precisely such a description as might accurately be applied to government in Missouri during the last half decade?

The description would include the belated enactment of anti-contract laws under the coercion of the people when it could no longer be evaded, flouting of those laws by successive sets of officials, total neglect of any preparation for putting a rational plan of convict employment into effect and repeated extensions of the mandatory time limit on the dishonest plea that this deliberate neglect of preparation made extension unavoidable.

Excuses for the latest attempt to perpetuate the exploitation of convicts under vicious contracts will be listened to by the public with small patience.

"In no event," says the statute on the subject, "shall a contract be made for the services of any convict for a period extending later than Dec. 31, 1916."

In defiance of this law a contract has been entered into for a period extending to June 30, 1917. "In no event" is made to mean in any or all events. "Any" convict is made to read all convicts.

This arrangement, which will cause as many violations of law as there are convicts affected, continuing every day the arrangement is observed, is declared by the Attorney-General to be worthless so far as enforcement is concerned. Why was a worthless contract entered into, unless it was to show contempt for the popular desire that contract evils shall be ended?

Or unless the fact of the execution of the unlawful contract, like the neglect of preparation in the past, is to be made an excuse for urging further legal authority for continuing the outlawed system?

The new factory superintendent is imitating the politician executives of the prison in withholding information from the people on how the prison industries are being run. What secrets has he to conceal?

IN PROHIBITION KANSAS.

To the interesting discussion in the Post-Dispatch as to the effects of prohibition in Kansas, I added a letter from a well-known St. Louis lawyer, who writes over the nom de plume, "Bleeding Kansas." He cites facts given in Government census bulletins.

U. S. Census Bulletin No. 96, page 47, he says, "shows prohibition Kansas granted more divorces because of husbands' drunkenness than 25 states where liquor is legally sold."

If this is true, it does not speak well for the quality of the "lemon extract" patent medicines and other prohibition State drinks to be had in Kansas. They are more deadly than most drinks sold openly in St. Louis.

The writer also says that the same bulletin, on page 43, shows that 27 states where liquor is lawfully sold have a lower divorce rate than prohibition Kansas.

According to this writer, Kansas is below the mark in church membership, in proportion to population; has fewer empty jails than Missouri; a higher death rate than 27 wet states, and an alarming increase in charity patients and expenses.

Since the publication of the first letter attacking prohibition in Kansas, the Post-Dispatch has printed three in defense. This is the second in opposition. Both sides have now been given ample space.

A COURAGEOUS TRENCHMAN.

"This Ernest Le Ford is a lucky fellow. Just when he has vowed a vow that he will eat hold-over sausage for two weeks rather than divulge his real name, along comes a detective and divulges it for him. Now he has to go back to New York and has a first-class chance to land in the penitentiary. But he escapes the sausage. It takes fortitude and philosophy to face hold-over sausage for two weeks. But when Le Ford was arrested he said he would do it rather than tell who he was. He's that game. He let on like it was to shield a woman's name, which would have been noble if true, but it turns out that it was his own name that he was shielding, which is less noble, though just as heroic. For it takes real courage to face hold-over sausage for two weeks, and nobody but a hero has any business trying it.

Hold-over sausage is sausage unashamed. It is served without garniture and without disguise. It does not come in French, Spanish or Italian. Or even German. It is plain United States sausage and it is perfectly brazen about it. If it were soisson or luganiche or even wurst it would not be so bad. But sausage! And two weeks of it! (And for a man who is just from the Buckingham Annex, where all the sausage is either soisson or luganiche, or at the worst wurst. Until he moved to the holdover, at the suggestion of the police, he always took his sausage so festooned with funny foreign phrases that he could not eat it without an interpreter. In the holdover they told him he would have to eat sausage unadorned until he revealed his name. He told them to bring on their sausage and do their worst.

Le Ford was digging himself in behind the bologna breastworks when a detective spied him and named him and the sausage siege was over.

DISILLUSION.

WHEN I was but a child, I knew a man who gave me dimes and chocolate creams. And such bright spots were those, that I Can still remember them in dreams.

I think I must be getting awfully old. For chocolate creams have lost their thrills. And dimes are not the dimes they used to be. I know their very worth in cents and mills.

I wish the years might travel back a space, And let me see my kind friend smile Once more. When times seemed breathless awe, And chocolate creams made life worth while.

JULIA CLOPTON CRESSAP.

We can't see anything to be gained by publishing a blackbook showing who the speeders of St. Louis are and about how fast they drive. It seems to us that it would be much more practical to have the color of one's car indicate the speed at which one usually drives. Thus, seeing a firecracker red car coming, we might instantly know that Wooster Lambert or one of his speed rivals approached, and be safely up a lamp post by the time he reached us. Our experience with these young men is that they give one no time to look into a book, anyway.

No newspaper is letter perfect, but when the chimes "peeled" forth a welcome for 1917 in one of our "temperatures" the other morning, we just had to laugh—that was all there was to it.

Mr. Ford reports having spent $25,399 for advertisements urging the re-election of Mr. Wilson, and like every man who has ever advertised copiously, he got what he wanted.

GOOD ROADS STORY.

From the Cass County (Mo.) Leader.
A Bates County farmer rode a load of wood five miles to Butler the other morning, and on arriving found two of his hogs had made the trip with him, perched on the coupling pole of his wagon.

Most of the 75 cabin passengers who sailed on the French liner Rochambeau from New York Monday of this week were buyers for American firms which merely pitch the German submarine in with such ordinary perils of business as fire, premature frost and the chance that the stenographer will want to get married about the time she has learned to spell Vicksburg with the c in it.

Just because the free bridge is to be opened on Jan. 30 is no sign, however, that any great number of minds hitherto closed to the truths of that great controversy are to be opened over.

One of the heirs to the Butler millions says he has played poker. If he has had that experience, he ought to be in mighty little danger of losing his money.

The rich man who left his chauffeur part of his fortune doubtless knew something about the habits into which automobiles lead one.

ABOUT THE COTTONBALL CROP.
From the Butler (Mo.) Democrat.
Six thousand rabbits were brought to Butler Saturday by farmers and others and were purchased by the Home Produce Co. More than 7000 pounds of these rabbits were shipped by express Sunday in barrels and sacks to Cleveland, Ohio, and St. Louis, where they are said to be in such demand, and bring prices varying from 25 to 60 cents each. Local merchants are selling rabbits at two for 25 cents. The price paid by the Home Produce Co. was $1 per dozen.

LUXURY.

IF your bank balance is booming, instead of sending some money where it is needed, you buy another vase so you will have something else to worry about. If grandmothers didn't have breakables to warn the children to keep away from, where would there be any fun in having the children come to visit? Your correspondent once broke a vase, for which he is deeply thankful. It was such a nice, big, smashing vase. It stood on a pedestal in the middle of a dark parlor. Off came the overcoat—and off came the vase.

INQUIRER.—We know of one for woollen hardened by the method for washing woolen underwear, might be stated by the do not rub, do not wring, do not wring. Woollens must be handled with care, because we know that any one who knows how to wash woolen goods by knotting the fibers. Heat is a shrinkage, toughening and evening of the fibers, so our first must be the temperature of the water. This is preferably about 110 degrees Fahrenheit, which would mean the temperature of the bath. All water following should be of the same temperature. No matter how much soap is used, it must be the same as one used for colored clothes, but for evening and making the washing easy, one has no desire to rule. The washing is done piece by piece, so as not to let the garment too long in the water, which means subjecting it to too much soap and to changes of temperature. Two soaps, wash waters are better, one, and usually give a much cleaner color, especially in white.

To remove persistent spots, use a spoonful to the soap recipe given—ammonia, two or three tablespoons, may be added to the wash. Fur Fabrics and Their Development

In the anteroom of a certain coat design establishment in New York City two photographs hang side by side. One shows a model wearing a long coat of seal skin, with deep draped collar and cuffs of beaver. The other shows the same model in a coat of a remarkable plush fabric in imitation of seal skin, with collar and cuffs of similar plush, closely resembling beaver.

The improvement in the beauty and quality of fur fabrics has made a revolution in the fur industry since last season—and the designer's output was a leap far in advance of the season before. For the demand has grown in a surprising way for the rich cloths which imitate so closely the animal pelt.

"We had to work hard, not only to get the advance of orders, but to give women better and better results," answered the head of the largest fur fabric manufacturing concern in the United States. "The development of these materials came quite suddenly, four or five years ago, and as the possibilities of their beauty and comfort, as a substitute for fur, became more apparent, our ideas broadened out into a thought of improvements in quality and variety."

"The production grew out of the seal pelt," a deep blue plush resembling seal skin, which was introduced about one year ago. It met with such widespread adoption that we instantly began experimenting with long pile plushes and velvets, and to work out new fabrics and improvements on the first."

"For example, here is our imitation 'nutria' of last year—it is thick and deep and pliable in its pile; it looks like the nutria we have produced this season—and he build out 'length of softest tawny skin, into which the hand sank as warmly as into a genuine pelt. 'This, as you see, is much deeper in pile, has a more natural color, and has the furry look, much more than the fabric of last year."

"This Shelton nutria is the nearest imitation to the actual fur than any fabric that has ever been manufactured. It is called beaver cloth by some designers, but here is our imitation of beaver. This, too, is an excellent imitation, but the nutria stands at the head."

"Next to the nutria, probably, is the Hudson Bay seal—an imitation of the fur of the same name. You will see how the threads, rich and deep and furry, are brown beneath and tipped with black. This underlay of color is one of our latest and best achievements. The animal pelt nearly always has a lighter tone near the skin, darkening at the tip. The Butcher seal, imitation of genuine seal, is another of our most successful fabrics. This has the close, short and thickly woven pile of the veritable seal skin."

"The imitations of mole skin are far and away better than those of former years. See if you would know, two feet away, that this was not genuine mole skin. And the visitor had to admit that the likeness was well-nigh perfect."

"We are always working, you see, to bring the fabrics nearer in appearance to the actual pelt. Three materials are used in the production of these imitations—silk, wool fiber and cashmere, the last named being the product of the wild, or undomesticated, silk worm. Different combinations of these materials are used to produce the various imitations."

Pantry Hints.
 It is a good plan occasionally to fill a large saucepan with water, rather a little soap in it, set it on the stove and let it boil. Then take a cloth or a towel and dip it in the water and wring it out. This will remove any grease or dirt from the cloth and make it clean. This is a good plan for cleaning cloths and towels.

Did She Do It?
 GRANDMA had a very bad cold one day when her little granddaughter made her a visit. Suddenly she sneezed very hard. Much pleased with the unexpected excitement, the child looked up and said, "Honk again, grandma."

Two Men.
 "A. S." writes: "Two young men are in love with me and want to marry me. I am very much in love with one of them, but he is four years younger than I and I have a simple idea for me. But there seems to be some kind of magnetism which draws me to him and makes him irresistible. I have tried hard to like the other young man better, but cannot seem to do so. What would you advise me to do?"

Married man.
 "V. G." writes: "A young man has asked me to marry him. I have refused, and feel that I shall never reconsider my decision. Is it wrong for me to continue to receive friendly attentions from him provided I do not deceive as to my attitude?"

Diversity of Styles.
 THESE help those who do not care to be extravagant. Any thing but a simple Indian gown may be made in brown chiffon interthreaded with gold, and to look as if it had been slipped over the head of a fashion model. The opening of the dress is distinctive; they are generally produced by tulle draperies, and these are often garnished with metal threads; they float so gracefully about the arms, and also fall over the train at the back. Fashionable folks favor evening skirts very short in front and long at the back, reports the Queen, London. Happily the color scheme is in no case violent, but our full-dress gowns will owe a great deal to a judicious touch of color, introduced just where it is wanted. The back is a yard longer than the front of these skirts, and a clever fashion caterer has introduced a front breadth turned up beneath a handsome ornament to show a deep flounce of metallic lace and embroidery, a very graceful, effective style. One black satin gown is reminiscent of the portraits of ancient Egyptian dames.

Wall Street List Shows Rather

Wide Losses; Trading

Fairly Broad.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Further pressure was brought to bear against stocks at the opening of the stock market today. Steel and some of the war industrial stocks showed sharp declines.

The market met support shortly after the opening, however. Trading was fairly active in the standard shares.

The extremely professional character of the early trading was indicated by the material gains notably in Reading, Mechanical and Steel. The latter was the second round rebound, follow-the shore weeping and wringing her hands.

"Here, my Queen," she shouted. Squak, as he lit on the sand by her side. "Put on your robe and be brave. The North Wind is going to set you free."

Then the wind began to blow. Not a squally wind, but a steady, strong, icy wind that made Squak shiver and the Queen shiver her hands as if afraid. The water grew calm, then in another moment it was a sheet of smooth, shining ice from the island to the land. Like a mirror it flashed in the sun and the Queen and Squak laughed at the Queen, who did not know to think, for she had never seen ice before.

"Just run out on the water as if it were the ground," explained Squak. But the Queen shivered and drew back. Just at their feet were four smooth chips.

"Stand on the chips and hold hands," roared the North Wind, "and I will get you safely home."

Then the Queen stood on the chips and held hands tightly. Then the wind blew. Hard and strong it grew. He caught up Squak's coat and struck the Queen right in the back, so that they both fell quickly out on the ice. Like a walrus they skimmed rapidly forward, touching the ice hardly at all. Till at last they gently fell on the beach before the Queen's garden. And the North Wind roared and howled at the Queen, home of the wicked King of the Black Country.
